Document Naming and Storage Conventions

From time to time the UASG will review and revise documents. The UASG's naming and storage policy for the documents will be:

- Document Number (e.g. UASG000) – this will be maintained as a consistent reference name for a document. NB: No hyphen in the document number.
- Document Short Title (e.g. UASG000 Inventory of Material) – this will be included in the file name.
- Document Language (e.g. UASG000 Inventory of Material EN) – this will be included in the file name.
- Document Revision – (e.g. UASG000 Inventory of Material EN 2019-01-25) This will be based on the publication date and represented in the file name as yyyy-mm-dd. It will also be included within the document.
- Document Link – (e.g. English <https://uasg.tech/documents/UASG000-Inventory-of-Material-EN.pdf>) This will be based on the language of the document and is what's published on the UASG.Tech website and will retrieve the latest official version of the document.
- Archives: The UASG.tech website will include a repository of deprecated versions of documents that will be stored and displayed based on its file name (which will include the published date)
- Revision Details: For most documents we will maintain a table at the end showing a summary of revisions. Where a document is used a brochure, this will not be done.

Revision Notes:

2019-01-25	Added Document Naming and Storage Conventions
2018-12-25	Added expected review dates
2019-02-13	Added Reference to UASG013 Case Studies and allowed for additional EAI Evaluation studies as UASG021x
