Lines Indians

Neither would tourist camps, now operating on a fish-for-fun basis, be closed because of the mercury contamination.

Mr. Bernier said access would be provided to other, apparently less-contaminated lakes where Indians can obtain domestic fish supplies. Jack Stokes (NDP—Thunder Bay), whose riding is in the area, said outside the house there are few lakes that have escaped contamination.

Mr. Stokes said most of the Indians are on welfare and they buy foodstuffs with those funds. He said he was not aware of any need in the northwest for alternative food supplies.

The ministry study said mercury levels in the Wabigoon and English River system far exceeded those permitted in commercial fish. It said the ban on fishing had deprived the Indians of their traditional life style and led to increased use of alcohol and drugs and outbreaks of crime.

Most concern is being felt for Indians of the Grassy Narrows and Whitedog Bands.

Mr. Bernier said the government has accepted the Indians' refusal of an offer to relocate to other areas.

Face Monday

How much has been found by police

When it was found the money was missing last Monday, police said $700,000 was gone.

However, late in the week, police had more than $800,000 in their possession.

Late Friday, Saint John police said there was a "good probability" a third man would be brought to Saint John to face charges in connection with the theft. There was speculation he was referring to Barker.

Police said Dominey and Downs had been in Toronto for at least a few days when they called police and surrendered. There was no indication Barker and Craig had been in the city.

Dominey and Downs disappeared from their homes last Saturday.

The robbery was discovered Monday when police were able to get into the Brink's vault after the electrical timing de-

FBI Chief Resigns Post In Watergate "Scandal"

Nixon Flies To To "Think Things"

WASHINGTON (CP-AP) — Patrick Gray has resigned under fire as head of the FBI as the Watergate case continues to cause grave problems for the Nixon administration.

President Nixon named a temporary successor to Gray Friday and then flew to the seclusion of his mountain top retreat at Camp David, Md. apparently to consider what action to take on the scandal arising out of the break-in and bugging of the Democratic national headquarters during last year's presidential election campaign.

Nixon's embattled aides, domestic adviser John Ehrlichman and chief of staff H. R. Haldeman—frequent companions on such problem-solving trips—remained behind amidst reports they are fighting for their jobs.

In a strange turn the Watergate case threatened to disrupt the Pentagon Papers trial of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo in Los Angeles with official disclosure that two Watergate defendants burgled the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist for his records.

NAMED INTERIM HEAD

The appointment of William Ruckelshaus, to serve as acting head of the FBI until a permanent successor can be found, climaxed an event-filled day in the tangled Watergate aftermath that saw these developments.

—Gray, the acting FBI director who had already withdrawn his nomination for permanent chief, quit "to preserve in both image and fact the reputation, the integrity and the effectiveness of the FBI." The resignation followed disclosure that he destroyed documents from the safe of convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt.

—Ehrlichman admitted being present when the documents were handed to Gray, but denied he ordered their destruction.

Canadians Will Lose Hour Sleep

OTTAWA (CP) — 12:01 a.m. becomes 1:01 a.m. in Canada Sunday.

The country sets its clocks ahead in the annual exercise of putting sunlight where it will do the most good.

By setting the clock ahead, the sun will rise later than normal, giving more sunlight later in the day. On Oct. 27 the clocks will be moved back for the winter.

Depending on where you live—Newfoundland, Atlantic, Eastern, Central, Mountain, Pacific and Yukon Standard Time become daylight time.

Initiated in 1918 as a war-time measure, daylight time affects most Canadians. But there are exceptions.

Saskatchewan, for instance, does not use the term daylight time, but instead switches to Central Standard Time from Mountain Standard Time. This move still adds an hour of daylight as Central Standard Time is the same as Mountain Daylight Time.

Clocks Move Ahead Sunday

Advancing an hour glass one hour for daylight saving time appears to pose a problem for Pat Plachta. She knows DST begins at 2 a.m. Sunday and she'll have one less hour to sleep in the morning but she'll make it up in the Fall. —Staff Photo
